

Childhood Anxiety Symptoms Checklists

Name: _____ Date: _____

Instructions:

1. Read each statement and consider how it applies to the child in question over the last two weeks.
2. Mark the box that best describes the frequency of each symptom: "Never" (the symptom does not occur), "Sometimes" (the symptom happens occasionally), "Often" (the symptom happens frequently), "Always" (the symptom happens almost all the time).
3. After completing the checklist, review the responses. A high number of symptoms marked as "Often" or "Always" could suggest the presence of an anxiety disorder, but this is not a definitive diagnosis.

Total Score: _____

Scoring Interpretation:

- Never: 0 point
- Sometimes: 1 point
- Often: 2 points
- Always: 3 points

After assigning points to all responses, you can add the total score. A higher score indicates more frequent or severe symptoms of anxiety.

However, it's essential to note that no definitive cut-off score can diagnose an anxiety disorder. Some children might experience many of these symptoms but still not meet the criteria for an anxiety disorder. In contrast, others might have fewer but more severe symptoms and do meet the criteria.

If the child's score is high or you have any concerns, it's strongly recommended to seek professional help. A mental health professional can perform a more comprehensive evaluation, considering the child's overall behavior, life circumstances, and other important factors, to make a diagnosis if necessary and suggest suitable treatment options.
