I Statements for Effective Communication DBT Worksheet

Date:

Name:			_
Physician's Name:			-
Instructions:
Write down some "you" statements you frequently make when talking to others.
Change the "you" staten	nents above into "I" state	ements.
The next time you have situations/conflicts where you normally use "you" statements to express yourself or ask for what you need, use an "I" statement instead. Then, record the outcome below. Pay particular attention to how the other person responds.
Situation and with whom?	What were your thoughts and feelings?	What "I" statement did you use?	What was the outcome? How did the other person respond?

Reflections Did you find your comm statements? Please elal	unication improved whe borate and give example	n you shifted from "you" es.	statements to "I"
Did anyone notice you v they say or do?	vere communicating in a	a different way? How did	they react? What did
What can you do to rem	ind yourself to use "I" st	atements instead of "yo	u" statements?
,	,

helpful, 1- = extremely helpful?
What did you learn from this exercise?

Reference: Pipitone, E., & Doel, A. (2020). Using "I" Statements to Communicate Effectively. In The DBT Assignment Workbook: 50 Dialectical Behavior Therapy Activities (pp. 166-168).