

Machiavellianism Test Results Interpretation

Client's Name: _____

Date of Test: _____

Test Score: _____

Interpretation:

The Machiavellianism Test measures an individual's predisposition towards Machiavellianism, a personality trait characterized by manipulative behavior, emotional coldness, and a disregard for morality.

- A low score (20-60) suggests that the individual may have a lesser tendency for Machiavellian behaviors. They may not typically resort to manipulation or show emotional coldness in their interactions with others.
- A moderate score (61-100) indicates that the individual may occasionally exhibit Machiavellian behaviors. Their manipulative behavior, emotional coldness, and disregard for morality can vary depending on the situation.
- A high score (101-140) suggests a strong predisposition toward Machiavellian behaviors. The individual may frequently demonstrate manipulative behavior, emotional coldness, and a significant disregard for morality.

Recommendations:

Based on the test results, I recommend the following steps:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.

Follow-up Actions:

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.